Must be safe, strong, and picturesque

Building a bridge that is both handsome, safe and able to withstand the potential rage of Mother Nature over the 75-year expected lifetime of the structure could be a tall order.

But Massachusetts Department of Transportation, dubbed MassDOT, says they are up to the task, while noting that holding two design hearings last year and a pre-construction

Recycling is not optional. That was the message delivered this week by Director of Public Works Brian Joyce who presented amended disposal regulations for the Recycling Transfer Facility, affectionately called the RTF.

The last time the regulations were updated was in December 1997 - nearly 20 years ago.

Joyce presented an overview of the changes, which the selectmen unanimously approved this week, with the caveat to revisit them in six months to see if an invigorated enforcement effort had been effective.

Joyce pointed out that the enforcement aspect had never been codified in the policy and enumerated that the accepted revisions include penalties starting with a written warning for the first offense; $50 fine and warning letter for the second offense indicating that a third offense could result in suspension of the resident's RTF permit; and third and subsequent

BYOD night

Questions, concerns addressed

By Abigail Adams

Curious parents were given the opportunity to learn more about the "bring your own device" program at an information session held Tuesday evening (June 13) in the middle-high school auditorium. The event hosted by interim Assistant Superintendent Sue Skeiber allowed parents to hash out any remaining questions or concerns regarding the program before its full implementation in the 2017-18 school year.

The event featured a panel comprised of 16 students and teachers who participated in this year's BYOD pilot program to help provide parents with a deeper insight into the program's ultimate functionality. Many of the panelists were eager to share their positive experiences with members of the community.

"I've become less of a facilitator and more of a coach in the classroom," said Catherine Duggan, an English Language Arts teacher for grades 6 and 7.

High school social studies teacher Michael Welch agreed.

"Students are allowed to work at their own pace," he said, adding, "It makes it harder to forget your work."

Students on the panel also praised the program for making it simpler to collaborate with classmates both in school and at home while allowing teachers to provide more quality feedback on given assignments.

Skeiber called this "anywhere, anytime learning."

POLICE BEAT

Another crash at Route 3A and Beechwood

By Mary Ford
mford@wickedlocal.com

MVA

A 63-year-old Scituate man in a 2017 BMW who was headed south on Route 3A at Beechwood Street on Monday evening (June 5) around 5:28 p.m., cut off a 2012 Ford sedan, operated by a 16-year-old Marshfield boy, as the BMW attempted a left onto Beechwood Street, police said. The Ford was headed north.

There was major damage to both cars that had to be towed; no one was injured. The Scituate man was cited for failure to yield the right of way, police said.

MVA

Police said the driver of 2008 Chevrolet Tahoe failed to yield to oncoming traffic when exiting Old Colony Square on Route 3A on Monday morning (June 5) around 8:20 a.m., and pulled into the path of a 2007 Toyota Corolla that was headed north.

The Toyota was driven by a 28-year-old Marshfield woman who was transported to the hospital with neck and back injuries, police said.

The driver of the Tahoe, a 59-year-old Marshfield man, was cited for failure to grant the right of way. The Toyota had to be towed from the scene.

Harassment

Detectives are investigating a sexual harassment charge from a worker at a local business reported last week that could amount to the charge of indecent assault and battery.

Bus lights

Police spoke to a Cohasset woman who failed to stop for the school buses that were dropping students off in the driveway of the Deer Hill School on Monday (June 5). Police note that the same rules apply for school buses that are dropping students off at the school in that motorists must not pass the bus while the lights are flashing.

Coyote feeding

A Cohasset resident who was spotted on the Facebook Cohasset143 site feeding pieces of chicken to coyotes was told to stop the practice, when the matter was brought to their attention, police said. The Animal Control Officer gave the resident some information on coyotes and explained the problems with feeding them.

Locked in

Two reports came in last week that Express Towing resolved. A dog apparently pushed the automatic door locks while its owner was refueling at the Stop &

Shop gas station, locking the owner out of the 2008 Toyota Cruiser.

In an unrelated incident, a three-year-old was inadvertently locked in a running 2007 Ford Explorer at the Avalon complex. The father is a 50-year-old Holbrook man.

Fraud

Hingham Lumber reported to police that a contractor used checks totaling $882 to purchase items. The bank returned the checks because they were unable to locate an account with that number. Detectives are investigating.

Rooster

A rooster turned up on the back deck of a Whitney Woods Lane home for several days last week. The owner was not located and the rooster was taken to the New England Wildlife Center, police said.

Drifter

Police spoke to a drifter who allegedly made bizarre threats at Starbacks on Wednesday (June 7). The 55-year-old man from Bethel, Wash., did not have any weapons, was identified and sent on his way. He appeared to have some emotional issues.

Dog attacked

A 57-year-old Cohasset woman reported that she was walking her male Yorkshire terrier on a leash on Hill Street when a black Lab charged and bit the Yorkie on its ear. She picked up her dog, scurried home to take her dog to the veterinarian. Animal Control, who is investigating, was able to locate the Lab and its owner.

Probation violation

Police arrested Heather A. Troiano, 45, of 1903 Avalon Dr., on Thursday (June 8) at 10:58 p.m.

after being notified of a probation violation by the court. Troiano was located and placed under arrest on the warrant.

Deer MVA

The driver of a 2010 Saab sedan reported that a deer darted out by Frank Williams landscaping on Route 3A while the Saab was headed south. The driver called police from the MBTA lot at 7 p.m. on Friday (June 9).

Not missing

At the request of Cohasset police, Scituate PD was able to locate an elderly man who was having a meal with his daughter at the Mill Wharf in Scituate Harbor on Friday evening (June 9).

The man, who lives at Sunrise, was reported missing when the assisted living complex conducted a count. Apparently proper sign-out procedures were not followed, police said.

WICKED WEATHER

Storm rips through town on Monday

Around 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday (June 13), a rapidly moving thunderstorm with hail and torrential rain came through town knocking a tree down on the west side of the Beechwood Street culvert blocking the road.

About the same time a tree in the Wheelwright Farm complex off Beechwood Street was hit by lightning and then fell onto a residence there, causing damage.

Due to the road being blocked, fire apparatus had to travel around through Scituate to get to the house, taking at least 10 minutes to arrive.

The road blockage with the downed tree was unrelated to the Beechwood culvert project. The DPW arrived and pushed the tree off to the side of the road. The building inspector arrived and said the house was habitable. No one was injured.

The storm appeared to hit certain areas the hardest. Trees were also down in the 600 block of Jerusalem Road and Cedar Street.

COHASSET TRIATHLON

Volunteers are key to Tri's success

By Becca Fredey
Correspondent

What marks the beginning of summer in Cohasset? Memorial Day? When students are let out of school? The first heat-induced thunderstorm? It's different for everyone; sometimes it's all of these, sometimes it's none.

However, a lot of people define their summers by what they do with them. What vacations they go on, how much landscaping they get done, what activities they're involved in.

The Cohasset Triathlon presents the perfect opportunity to mark the beginning of summer. Scheduled for Sunday, June 25th, beginning at 7:45 a.m., participants will make the multi-terrain trek; swimming one-fourth of a mile off of Sandy Beach, biking 12 miles through the heart of Cohasset and completing the Triathlon with a 5K run along Jerusalem Road.

The annual Cohasset Triathlon is in its 11th year, and it's more popular than ever. Spots for the race fill up quickly, and there's even a waiting list on the website for people who are holding out for last minute spaces so they can get the chance to participate.

A popular race that holds such meaning for the town can seem like a given; something that will, annually, show up when summer does, just as it has for the past decade. With over 1,200 participants this year alone, the Cohasset Triathlon is one of the largest races in the region.

That being said, a race of this size requires more than just dedicated runners, bikers and swimmers. In order to coordinate the event, the Triathlon requires upwards of a 100 volunteers every year to man specific jobs like registration, parking, kayakers, and assistants to make sure the transitions from terrain to terrain are safe and quick.

Operations Director Christian Cunnie says that "If we don't have enough volunteers, the race will not succeed." Cunnie is a Cohasset High School graduate and has been involved in the coordination of the Cohasset Triathlon and Streamline Events in some capacity since the eighth grade.

Cunnie, along with Race Director and Cohasset resident Bill Burnett, coordinate upwards of 15 races per year, and the job hasn't gotten any less exciting for them. "We have a core team of about 12 to 15 staff that make doing this a really fun thing," says Cunnie. As a rising junior at UMass Amherst, he says the job offers a lot of valuable skills. "It's more of an experience than just a regular job."

The importance of the volunteers' role in the Cohasset Triathlon cannot be stressed enough, nor can the rewarding nature of being involved in the event -- from the early-morning check-ins to watching the race begin and the transitions happen -- the experience would be one to behold.

Luckily, the Triathlon is still looking for volunteers! People of any age can help out and coordinators will place them where they're needed. If you want to get involved, just contact Christian Cunnie at christian@streamlineevents.com.

Hopefully, the mild-temperatures and sunny forecast will hold up for the Tri, and our participating athletes will get everything they're hoping for out of the day. Logistically, it should also be known that there is a possibility of delays when traveling through town, however there will not be any road closures. Participants are projected to be clear of the village by 9:30 a.m. By that time, they'll already be enjoying their victory laps.

AT WILLCUTT COMMONS

A gift of friendship to honor Martha Ogrodnik

This past fall, Martha Ogrodnik lost her valiant, 8-year battle with cancer.

Martha is deeply missed by her husband, Glenn, her children Matt and Molly and a very large extended family and group of friends.

Martha, always smiling, had a contagious zest for life. She was full of energy and adventure, always ready for a "road trip." Martha was famous for her true "isms" such as, "little said is easily mended," and if she called you a "dirty dog," you knew you had made it! Until her retirement in 2006, she was a special needs teacher where she made a difference in the lives of her many "customers."

Martha loved the summer, the ocean, and sailing. She was an avid walker and a dedicated member of Mary's Sullivan's community fitness class at the Willcutt Commons. Mary once said "Martha is in the best shape of anyone I know."

Martha had a passion for art and her house is filled with paintings that reflect her love of nature and the sea. She also loved reading and watching movies. Martha was a founding member of The Pleasantwood Movie Group, conceived in 1998 as a monthly night out at the movies with friends.

Although originally designed as a casual way of connecting with friends, this once a month gathering eventually evolved into a caring evening, shared by the close knit group, providing the opportunity to share their stories, celebrate life's joyous moments, and give mutual support through life's changes.

The Movie Group, now grappling with the loss of Martha, wanted to commemorate their cherished friend and the bond of friendship forged over the last 20 years. The group chose the painting TACK, which depicts a carefree sail on a beautiful summer's day and incorporates many of the things that reflect Martha's life and passions to donate to Willcutt Commons as their gift of remembrance.

TACK was painted by Sue Charles, a South Shore artist. As it turns out, Martha and Sue also had a shared connection. For many years, their daughters danced together as Martha and Sue watched in the wings. Martha always admired Sue's work and had told friends she hoped to own a "Sue Charles" one day. So, it is fitting that this beautiful painting and its depiction of sailing on a summer's day will honor Martha.

Coral Grande, Elder Affairs Director, welcomed the idea and was thrilled that Willcutt Commons was chosen as the perfect venue -- a location where the painting can be enjoyed by many folks who pass through the senior center every day.

The painting, TACK was dedicated to Willcutt Commons on June 13, 2017. Along with her family, movie group, friends, and representatives from Cohasset in attendance, Coral Grande graciously accepted the painting saying, "The gift of this painting to Willcutt Commons embodies the spirit of camaraderie, community, and enduring friendship which highlights the reasons this building was built -- where connections and friendships are continually fostered."

It is the Movie Group's hope that this artwork will bring joy to all those who see it and people will remember how much Martha Ogrodnik was loved by her friends and family.

AROUND TOWN

Big weekend ahead with Arts Festival and Fathers Day

Hill Cohasset, the weekend of the Arts Festival on the Common has arrived and with it brings a certain atmosphere and excitement around the town. With the tents filled with art that I cannot even start to describe in words, how beautiful, unique and inquiring each piece is, to the music for all ages, to the delicious foods that will have something for everyone's taste buds, along with the vendors, crafts and other great activities spread out along the Common, it is going to be a fabulous festival!

JENNIFER PIEPERSINK

Farmers Markets

Something else that I get so excited about at this time of year are the openings and starts of all the local Farmers Markets. From the amazing fruits, veggies, fresh meats, fish at times, crafts, vendors and so much more, the Markets are a wonderful way to bring people together and not just to shop with a basket in hand, rushing through the aisles with our heads down, phone in hand.

You can chat, socialize and kids can play, dance and just enjoy time outside. Brings us back to simpler times, kinda cool. So remember to head to the fantastic Cohasset Farmers Market held every Thursday afternoon from 2 to 6 p.m. on Cohasset Common.

Concert series

Even better, beginning June 29th at 6 p.m., the Cohasset Concert Series begins with Cohasset's own Warehouse Rodeo. These awesome concerts all take place on the Cohasset Common and are set-up so families, friends, singles and couples alike can head to the Farmers Market held each week on Thurs day afternoon then walk right over to the other side of the Common, spread out your blanket, set up your beach chairs or just play on down on the grass!

For those just coming home from work or getting there at 6 p.m., not a problem, come join in as well as everyone should bring a great picnic dinner and enjoy the shows. All performances are free, handicapped accessible and open to the public. The main site is at Wilson Commons, 51 Bolter Rd., and you can always find more info at: cohassetcommon.com friends, 1-4-2!

Plant sale

Holly Hill Farm on Jerusalem Road is holding its Organic Plant Sale this weekend with tomato seedlings still available for $1 in the main barn. The sale is on June 17 and June 18 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Shop early to get the best selections.

Open House

The public is invited to an Open House at the Paul Pratt Memorial Library, 35 Ripley Road, to try the new assistive technology available for people with disabilities and to learn how the library has responded to the needs of the community. The Equal Access for All Open House will be held at the library on Saturday, June 24, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Demonstration and instruction on how to use the assistive listening devices, touch-screen text-to-speech computer, and desktop video magnifier will be provided. Learn about our high/low reading collection and Perkins Talking Book collection. For more information contact: Julie White at the library at 781-383-1348 or visit the library's website: cohassetlibrary.org

Then, of course it is another special day on Sunday that honors and shows all the Dads and special guys in the lives of children young and old how much they mean, Fathers Day. A great way to spend some or all of that might be to head on down to the festival, here is something you can treat that guy, too.

Memories

DVDs of the 2017 CHS Senior Prom Red Carpet from May 19th as well as DVD's of the 2017 CHS Graduation from June 2nd are now available to purchase for $20 per DVD. To order DVD copies please call Shaun Galvin at 781-424-2197 (cell) or email your request to galvin142sham@hotmail.com. Requests can also be mailed with a check for $20 per DVD to Shaun Galvin P.O. Box 526 Hingham, MA 02043. Checks should be made payable to Shaun Galvin.

Tryouts

Cohasset Swim and Dive Team Tryouts for children aged 6+ will be held at the Cohasset Swim Center on Wednesday, June 21 from 3 to 4:30 p.m. for swimmers and 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. for divers. The rain date is June 22, same times.

Shout-out

I want to end with a HUGE shout-out and apology to Sara Karp and Anthony Nahill, both of whom I wrote about last week and misspelled their names as they graduated from UMass Amherst. Great job to you both and the best of luck in your careers. —That is the news for this week Cohasset. Send in next week's news by 5 p.m. on Tuesday. —EMAIL: aroundtowncohasset@yahoo.com

Colgate

Congratulations to two Cohasset residents, members of the Class of 2017, who received their diplomas May 21 at the 196th Colgate University Commencement: Sara Corry, history major, and graduate of Cohasset Middle-High School; and Alexandre Lauretti, mathematics major, and graduate of Milton Academy.

Bucknell grad

Gabrielle Rioux from Cohasset was named to the dean's list at Bucknell University during the spring semester of the 2016-17 academic year and graduated from the university on May 21. A student must earn a grade point average of 3.5 or higher on a scale of 4.0 to receive dean's list recognition.

Awesome news, Gabrielle!

ARTS CENTER

Cohasset lights up with Festival on the Common

By Constance Gorfinkle

Father's Day isn't the only big event this weekend. From Friday through Sunday, the South Shore Arts Center will host for the 62nd year its colorful arts festival, which includes several tented exhibitions, the offerings of artisans from across the country, food for all tastes and the sound of music.

Located on Cohasset's bucolic Common and surrounding its lovely pond, the festival attracts thousands of people from around the region, will take place Friday, June 16th, 1 to 7 p.m.; Saturday, June 17th, 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Sunday, June 18, from noon to 5 p.m.

Special attractions for Arts Festival 2017 include:

- Juried Art Exhibition, Members' Show and Tent Talks in the Main Tent
- Spotlight on Coastal Printmakers in the Feature Tent, including artist demos
- KidsTent featuring a Young Artists' Exhibition and interactive art-making activities (boat building and racing; Father's Day card-making and so much more)
- 90+ juried craft exhibitor booths encircling the green with exquisite jewelry, home and garden products, hand-made clothing, ceramics, fine art and photography.
- Non-stop performances on the sound stage from Irish step to jazz to rock-n-roll.

■ After-hours benefit parties: Preview Party featuring works by maritime photographer Michael Kahn on Thursday; Aldous Collins Band dance party on Friday; "dine arounds" in private homes on Saturday.

Parking in Cohasset Village and satellite parking at South Shore Music Circus on Solier Street – a trolley will shuttle visitors from satellite parking to the historic Cohasset Common.

—For more information on the South Shore Art Center and its annual Arts Festival visit www.sssc.org or call 781-383-2787.

GIMME SHELTER

Heather wants to be the center of your world

By Jamie Baranow

This week we have Heather strutting into her moment in the spotlight. She is a young petite black and white female who sadly ended up on the streets to fend for herself after a move separated her from her family.

If she could talk she would have some wild stories of her harrowing adventures on the street. Luckily, she is now safe at the shelter and is ready for her new forever home. Heather needs to be an only cat but that shouldn't be a problem since she has a huge, bubbly personality and is waiting to embrace her role as the queen of the house. She is playful, curious, and energetic but will also calm down and make a perfect sidekick and lap cat, too.

She has so much love and attention to give and is looking for her forever home that will love her and keep her safe so she will never have to be left behind again. Could Heather be the one for you?

You can learn more about Heather and the other cats and kittens that we have available for adoption by visiting us online at www.hsar.org or by visiting us at 487 Nantasket Ave. in Hull. Open hours are Mondays from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. and on Saturdays from 2 to 3 p.m. If these times are not convenient for you, appointments can be made by calling our adoption coordinator at 781-534-4902.

Hull Seaside Animal Rescue is a no-kill cat shelter that relies solely on donations, grants and fundraisers. If you would like to make a tax-deductible donation, you can do so easily on our website (hsar.org), or by mailing a check to HSAR, P.O. Box 787, Hull, MA 02045. We also have gorgeous hats and t-shirts for sale, participate in Amazon

OUR VIEW

School mascots

We understand that the use of American Indian names and images has a long history in this country. They often were used to belittle and demean the peoples who were here before the Spanish and the English arrived. There are team names and mascots that honor and celebrate individual Native Americans and elements of their culture. Just as with Italians or Irish, however, there are words and representations that insult and cause harm. It is our view that people in individual communities, not the state, should decide what is harmful and disrespectful and what honors Native Americans, their tribes and their culture.

The bill currently pending in the Legislature takes aim at any "name, symbol or image that depicts or refers to an American Indian tribe, individual, custom or tradition" and gives several examples of offensive usage - Redskins, Savages, Indians, Chiefs, Braves or Redmen. According to supporters of the bill, more than two dozen schools in Massachusetts have such names, including the high schools in Braintree, Middleboro, Hanover and North Quincy. Over the years, their nicknames and mascots, while sometimes criticized, have become a source of local identity and local pride.

Braintree High's athletes take the field or court as the Wamps. The Wamp was Josiah Wompatuck, known to English settlers as Josiah Sagamore before he died in 1669. He was a leader of the Mattakesett tribe and son of Chickatawbut, sachem of Massachusetts tribe. Braintree Mayor Joseph Sullivan, a Braintree High grad, said every association with the word Wamp in town is one of pride.

Middleboro High School identifies as the Sachems, an honorific referring to the paramount chiefs of local tribes in colonial days. But Middleboro is making changes. Athletic Director Michael Perry said the school is abandoning a logo with the image of an orange Indian with a feather on his head and moving to an orange "M" in a circle with a pair of feathers on it.

Hanover High School, called the Indians, also uses as a logo a circled "H" with a feathered bonnet on one side.

Massachusetts was home to Algonquian-speaking people when the Pilgrims arrived in 1620. Among that tribes were the Massachusett, hence the state name. There is an Indian dressed in Algonquian style on the state seal and the state flag. If the Legislature wants to deal with Native American images, it should start with that flag and seal. High school mascots and logos should be left to local citizens who have a strong appreciation for where they live and what their communities honor and appreciate.

Cohasset's AAA bond rating affirmed

Bond refinancing to save more than $900,000

Cohasset will save $912,540 on a bond refunding and retain its AAA bond rating after a bond sale is completed this week by the Board of Selectmen. The refunding issue of $9,500,000 was primarily for water project debt, and also included some Town and sewer infrastructure. An additional $810,000 in three-year bonds for recently acquired public works equipment, IT infrastructure, and repairs to the Bear Hill Water Tank was also issued. The net interest rate for the entire bond issue was 1.87 percent. Six firms bid on the bond issue, which was won by Fidelity Capital Markets.

As part of the bond sale, S&P Global Ratings also reaffirmed Cohasset's AAA bond rating. "We view the town's management as very strong, with 'strong' financial policies and practices," S&P stated in the rating notice. "The favorable operating performance over the past several years is a result of conservative budgeting for revenue and departmental turn-backs. Town officials have done well managing costs and fiscal planning."

"We are grateful for the strong vote of confidence in Cohasset that S&P has issued in their bond rating

"The rating reflects a lot of hard work by staff and the Town's boards and commissions to keep Cohasset's fiscal foundation strong."

Town Manager Chris Senior

report," said Town Manager Christopher Senior. "The rating reflects a lot of hard work by staff and the Town's boards and commissions to keep Cohasset's fiscal foundation strong."

The refunding issue has been under consideration for some months, with Town fiscal staff working with the Town's financial adviser to time the sale to maximize savings.

"Seeking refunding opportunities like this one to save on long-term costs is a key part of the fiscal policies we've developed here in Cohasset," said Town Treasurer/Collector Paula Linhares, who oversaw the sale process with Town Financial Advisor FirstSouthwest. "It's always great to save money."

"I thank Paula and the entire financial team for all their work on this," added Senior. "It took some time to put it all together, but the end result was certainly worth the effort."

LIFE AT CHS

Lots going on inside and outside the halls

Hello Cohasset Mariner readers: My name is Kate Quigley and I will be the Mariner's new Cohasset High School co-responsible for the school year 2017-18.

With the current school year winding down to our last few weeks, there has been a lot going on both inside and outside the halls of Cohasset Middle High School.

First and foremost, the past two weeks have been bittersweet with the graduation of our friends, teammates, and classmates from the Class of 2017. While we are proud of their many accomplishments and wish them the best of luck in the college years ahead, we are also sad to see them go.

I know I speak for all of my fellow underclassmen in expressing how much we will miss their friendship and guidance on a daily basis. However, I'm sure we will continue to remain in touch and we look forward to hearing from their new adventures.

The spring athletic season once again was a tremendous success for the many Skipper teams who qualified for state tourney play. Most of the teams enjoyed a good run in the tourney and can look back on a spring season of great achievement.

The CHS girls lacrosse team attained two major milestones in the program's history, winning the first-ever South Shore League title and then bringing home the first-ever Division 2 South Sectional title of the MIAA state lacrosse tournament.

The team's accomplishments came at the expense of our perennial arch-rival, Norwell. The Lady Skippers defeated Norwell in overtime during the regular season (a victory that essentially decided the winner of the SSL regular-season title) and then faced off again in the D-2 South championship final this past Saturday at Walpole High School.

However, unlike the previous two South finals between Cohasset and Norwell (which were won by Norwell in close, hard-fought games), Saturday's contest proved to be nowhere near as close as those encounters. The Lady Skippers turned in a nearly-flawless performance to post a convincing 16-4 victory, which truly was a testament to the outstanding coaching by coach Kully Reardon and assistant coach Joe Fitzgerald.

However, the Lady Skippers' work is not done as they now seek a state championship. They were set to meet the North Sectional winner, Newburyport, Tuesday at Babson (which will occur after the submission of this article) and, if successful, will take on the winner of Groton-Dunstable (the Central/West D-2 champ) vs. Walpole (the D-2 East champ) Saturday at Boston University for the state title. The Lady Skippers already have two banners to raise in the CHS gym, but as coach Reardon said, "We want a third!"

Well, that is about all the news for now as we look forward to starting our summer vacations when school lets out Friday the 23rd. I will resume this column in September and actively encourage my fellow students, faculty, administration, and members of the Cohasset community to submit news items for this column throughout the 2017-18 school year.

I know that the great Class of 2018 will serve as role models for all of our CHS schoolmates and hopefully fill the large shoes left by the Class of 2017. We look forward to welcoming the incoming freshmen and helping them understand that Cohasset High School offers an environment that provides the opportunity for every student to be the best that he or she can be, provided that they are willing to put in the work to do so.

Income, expense information needed

The Cohasset Board of Assessors is making a final request for Income and Expense information from commercial and industrial property owners for Fiscal Year 2018.

In accordance with Massachusetts General Laws Chapter 59, Section 38D, failure to comply with the Assessors' request will result in a $250 fine which will be added to the Actual Tax Bill.

If you wish to avoid the fine by providing the information, the Assessors will accept the Income and Expense forms through Friday, June 30. For further information, contact the Assessors' Office at (781) 383-4100 X5129.

RECYCLING

How not recycling impacts your wallet

By Julie Sullivan

I am the South Shore Recycling Cooperative's Recycling Education and Compliance Officer. With my boots on the ground at the transfer stations, my job has given me the unique opportunity to field burning questions from thousands of South Shore residents about the differences between recycling and trash.

Of these questions, one of the more frequent I receive is, "When will my town go single stream?" For those unfamiliar with the term, single stream refers to the method of recycling which allows paper, cardboard, bottles, cans and rigid food containers to be mixed together for recycling. In recent years, this method has been gaining traction with many communities both at the curb and at a few transfer stations.

Single stream recycling often helps municipalities recapture a higher overall quantity of recyclable materials, but the quality of the material is generally poorer than that of source separated, or multi-stream, recycling programs.

Materials recovery facilities - commonly abbreviated as MRFs - are responsible for sorting, baling and selling single stream recycled materials. This is achieved with mechanical sorting equipment and human staff on the sorting lines. The act of re-separating these materials has been described as "trying to unscramble a scrambled egg."

When mixed together, single stream recyclables can form an amalgam of broken glass, wet paper, and unwanted contaminants like food and plastic bags. This process can reduce otherwise clean recyclables with long lifetimes of reuse to low quality material that eventually ends up heading for the landfill. In this view, municipalities that choose source separated recycling are choosing to cook their eggs over easy instead.

One of the largest benefits of source separated recycling is that it generates a revenue stream through the sale of clean recyclables. As of January 1st of this year, Cohasset pays $83 per ton to dispose of its trash (MassDEP).

Through recycling, the town has the potential to make that much or more from one ton of clean, recycled material. At present, the market for corrugated cardboard is particularly lucrative. Since plastics are made from petroleum, the market for plastic recycling directly correlates with the market price of crude oil.

Redeemable items with 5-cent deposits, such as aluminum cans, glass beer bottles, and plastic soda bottles, provide a direct economic incentive to recycle to the consumers and to the retailers who accept these containers, and provides funding to organizations that collect them. Take a moment to think about that - you and your community can make money by recycling!

Another comment I hear frequently from residents is, "My taxes are so high that I should be able to throw away whatever I want."

However, the higher the town's revenue stream from recycling is and the lower the volume of trash being disposed of is, the lower your taxes and trash bills are likely to be. Not only is recycling good for the environment, it strengthens the local and global economy and helps keep your own wallet well-lined.

Recycling right is so important for the town of Cohasset that it is mandated by town law and enforceable by fining and the loss of transfer station access privileges. Nobody tries to be wasteful. To get the best results from our recycling programs and maximize the wide array of benefits that recycling produces, we must make it our priority to recycle right.

For more information on how to recycle right on the South Shore, visit the Town Program and Recycling A-Z pages of www.ssrcorp.info.

CSCR EVENT JUNE 21

Don't let school get in the way of your education!

By Jack Buckley

Special to the Mariner

The calendar and latest heat wave tell us summer is here. Speak of summer, recall past summers, or day dream about this summer and the iconic beach day inevitably comes to mind. School's out for young and old, and the lazy days are here! But, au contraire, mes amies. Don't let the school calendar fool you; more important, don't let school determine your education.

It's CSCR time; the time that learning comes to life, the time that education takes precedence over school. This means it's time for your first lesson of summer: Biodiversity 101. And here's the bonus - it's also an intercultural exchange with visiting professor, Dr. Christian Alsterberg, coming to speak to us all the way from Sweden. Sweet, huh?

Dr. Alsterberg holds a PhD in Marine Ecology and BS in Biology from the University of Gothenburg, Sweden. On June 21, summer solstice, he's going to unravel some of the mysteries of habitat loss, biodiversity loss, and the human activities that cause so many ecosystems to become homogenized and dominated by single species.

While it is commonly proposed that such habitat homogenization can have negative repercussions for ecosystem functioning, this remains to be explicitly studied. Dr. Alsterberg focuses his research on the functional consequences of biodiversity loss, and seeks answers by scaling up from the level of species to examine what's going on at the level of an ecosystem comprised of multiple habitats.

Just as species diversity generally begets ecosystem functioning through positive interactions, Dr. Alsterberg hypothesizes that different habitats within ecosystems can facilitate each other through structural complementarity and by the

Scrambled eggs to you? Don't worry, this illustration of Dr. Alsterberg's research on biodiversity loss will be explained, thank goodness, in terms we can all understand. (COURTESY PHOTO) exchange of material and energy. Huh? Don't worry, he's going to explain it all and tell us what this really means for our harbor, for our marshes, for our wildlife corridors, and for our conservation lands. (But hey, it's not a day at the beach; it's up to us to figure out how to apply what we learn to the world where we live!)

Dr. Alsterberg is going to show us how his work with experimental ecosystems is really valuable for thinking about environmental management strategies. (An experimental ecosystem? That's a thing? Yeah, come learn.) He says that a diversity of habitats on the broader scale of coastal ecosystems (such as the whole New England coastline) have higher levels of ecosystem functions compared to ecosystems with low habitat diversity (such as the Florida coastline).

I might have made that up, but it does leave me wondering if his research suggests that we not worry about diversity loss at a single site if it's complemented by a different type of diversity loss at another site. That's one of my questions for Dr. Alsterberg. Maybe I've completely misunderstood what he'll talk about. But, I'm looking forward to struggling a bit with this topic now that school is (almost) out.

Join us at CSCR on June 21, at 7 p.m. to kick off the summer with a great educational experience. School's out, yes. Learning's just beginin'.

YMCA COMMENTARY

Jessie MacDonald showed us the way

By John Galluzzo

I wonder if I can do that," Cohasset's Jessie MacDonald said. She reached out with her racket, flipped a tennis ball onto it from the ground, tossed it high into the air and with a powerful swing completed a one-handed serve, firing a laser over the net and properly between the lines into the service box.

Not bad, considering it was her non-dominant arm.

Until that point, Jessie had served the way most of us do when we hit the local tennis courts, bouncing the ball and swinging in an underhand fashion. Since she had lost her "good" arm, amputated as part of her battle with cancer, she did the best of us, just a modicum of Jessie's best would be worth a lifetime of pride. Jessie was a star athlete for the South Shore YMCAs Lobsters adaptive tennis team and an employee of the Y's Health and Well-being Department.

She was also a Hall of Fame Athlete with the Special Olympics, participating in track and field, basketball, bowling, skiing, powerlifting, sailing, soccer, softball, tennis, swimming and more. In all, she tallied more than 100 gold medals in the sports in which she participated.

Once, working with staff at the Y, she chose to participate in a "typical" powerlifting competition - Jessie was considered "special needs" back then, a term now commensurate with a person living with diverse abilities - and she placed ninth overall. And that was nationally. Yes, Jessie was that amazing.

And she knew she was good. "That little smirk..." said Lucy Dickman, her tennis coach with the Lobsters, as she, herself, smiled. Jessie excelled at everything she did, but she did it with grace. She never called attention to herself, but took pride in what she accomplished, and her genuine care for others played as large role in her life as her competitiveness.

"She was like a mother hen when we went away together," said Dickman, recalling Lobsters tournament team travel. "I can still hear her: 'Billy, did you brush your teeth?'"

When a fellow employee of the Health and Well-being Department was concurrently diagnosed with cancer, Jessie called on her regularly to check in, to make sure she was okay. They flip-flopped treatments, radiation and chemotherapy. Jessie coached her friend through the process.

When her own cancer progressed to the point that amputation became necessary, Jessie didn't bat an eye. "I'll play sports with the other arm," she said, and did, better than most of us play with both.

"No matter what she was faced with, she always chose to focus on what she could do, not what she could no longer do," said Karen Peterson, Associate Director of the Emillon Branch of the South Shore Y. "She never thought about what she lost, just what she had." Instead of giving up, Jessie played on, volunteering at the Magic Moon Farm in Marshfield to support kids suffering through their own trials, as she dealt with her own.

As she progressed through her final treatments, Jessie took a visit from Peterson. "I've been thinking," said Jessie. "I can't work any more, but I would like to still volunteer for the Y."

UPDATE

CEF gifts $50,000 to Learning Commons project

By Abigail Adams
correspondent

The Cohasset Education Foundation presented a $50,000 grant to the Cohasset Middle High School's Learning Commons project last Wednesday (June 7), the second of three allotted disbursements.

Only approximately $25,000 is left to be raised in order to reach the project's $250,000 fundraising goal which is slated for completion in time for the upcoming school year.

"This 'generous gift' marks the 100th grant awarded by the CEF over their 10-year history."

"We commend the progress this team is making in implementing this major project in time for school opening in September," said CEF President Cindy Matheison. "So far, so good."

The Learning Commons project that will transform the middle-high school library has received

ABOUT THE CEF

■ The Cohasset Education Foundation is a non-profit, tax-exempt community-based organization whose mission is to ensure that Cohasset students, teachers and administrators have access to the programs, materials and up-to-date equipment necessary to maintain a level of academic excellence in today's competitive environment.

■ The CEF raises funds throughout the year through contributions from residents, businesses and corporate and private enterprises who recognize that excellence in public education is essential to the social and economic fabric of the community. Entirely independent of the school system, the CEF maintains a close partnership with the school administration and evaluates for funding those needs submitted for consideration by teachers and administrators. The CEF is not intended to supplant or replace the public funding of the schools.

overwhelming support from a variety of community members. Both current and former parents of Cohasset Public School students alike have demonstrated a commitment to the project's implementation as the school attempts to stay up to date with today's rapidly-evolving technology.

In addition to its swift progress, Matheison also noted the project is coming in under-budget.

"I'm exceedingly confident that this project is definitely going to happen in all the ways that we look forward to," she said.

Any additional disbursements, according to Matheison, may cover some of the costs of things such as furniture or any other budgeted items which are now on order.

Members of the School Committee have lauded the efforts of the CEF in helping progress this important project. Superintendent Louise Demas assured the board that as president of the foundation, Matheison has been in the loop as the project has progressed over time.

"She even knows the color schemes," Demas joked.

Yet Matheison continues to credit the project for sparking local interest in supporting public schools and their promotion of quality education as the foundation welcomes aboard seven new board members in the upcoming fiscal year.

"This project has really embraced the whole community so we're grateful for that and I see good things going forward," Matheison said.

The foundation intends on issuing its final disbursement after the end of the fiscal year on June 30.

during school hours.

In the event a child's device is damaged or left at home, the Middle High School has purchased 275 Chromebooks. Students and parents are asked not to rely on these devices as instead are encouraged to purchase their own. A number of affordable options were provided for those concerned about affordability.

"The thing we are not looking for are high-end devices," Skeiber reiterated. "To go out and spend a lot of money on a device for BYOD is not necessary."

Some parents are also concerned some students' lack the necessary keyboarding skills required of this program, which will be implemented in both the Middle and High School settings. Deer Hill parents are especially concerned considering the current state of the keyboarding program offered to students by the school.

Skeiber recognized the state of the Deer Hill keyboarding program and promised parents she and others would look into what one parent called a "considerably significant" issue.

Many students, however, pointed out that they've been using these kinds of devices from a young age and that incorporating them into their every-day learning only enhanced their ability to function within a classroom setting.

As a Google school district, school officials hopes the BYOD program — which will regularly utilize Google Classroom and other Google applications — will further augment productivity among students and faculty alike. Skeiber is confident that this program will usher in advance learning techniques that have proven successful in other school districts, such as Scituate.

"[There is] a lot of ability to interact on a level with students that we were not able to do before," said Skeiber.

WHY BYOD:

■ takes advantage of the technology that students already have and are familiar with so that they can focus on actually learning with them rather than learning how to use the device.

■ embraces students as key contributors to the learning process.

■ students' personal mobile devices tend to be more cutting edge, so schools can more easily stay up to date with technology.

■ by utilizing their own devices, students are more likely to remember their personally important mobile devices than textbooks or notes.

■ provides district with a cost effective means to integrate technology into the educational programs

■ programs give educators an immediate means by which to bring technology into the classroom.

■ students have the access advantage of anywhere, anytime and any device learning.

■ allows student & teacher to swap roles.

■ through the use of an ever expanding list of educational apps and online resources.

■ engages students; creates enthusiasm and excitement about learning; and allows teachers to be more connected to both students and parents.

■ The flexibility of personalized devices supports different learners with differing learning needs and styles.

■ students take control of ensuring that their device is working, instilling a sense of responsibility.

THE HOUSE AND SENATE Beacon Hill Roll Call records local representatives' votes on the only roll call from the week of June 5-9. There were no roll calls in the Senate.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE LEARNERS (H 5786)

House 151-2, approved and sent to the Senate a bill that would give local school districts flexibility in educating their English Language Learner (ELL) students. The key part of the proposal would allow schools to implement alternative ELL programs, such as two-way bilingual/dual language or left to local communities and noted a statewide bill will ensure that no school use these offensive symbols.

Some opponents said the measure honor Native Americans by emphasizing positive traits like a fighting spirit, bravery, pride and dedication. Others said this is a decision that should be made by individual cities and towns.

BAN SEXUAL ORIENTATION CONVERSION THERAPY (H 1190) - The Committee on Children, Families and Persons with Disabilities heard testimony on legislation that would prohibit psychiatrists and other mental health professionals from providing conversion therapy to lesbian, gay, bisexual or transgender minors under 18. The therapy is designed to change their sexual orientation or gender identity.

Supporters of the ban said being gay, bisexual or transgender is not a disease and therefore does not need a cure. They argued there is no sound evidence that this type of "junk therapy" even works and noted it has increased levels of depression, anxiety, substance abuse, homelessness and suicidal thoughts.

Samuel Britton, formerly from Boston and now living in Washington, D.C., testified that his conversion therapy involved wires wrapped around his hands that would heat up when pictures of gay sex were shown to him and cool down when he was shown straight sex.

Opponents of the ban said the treatment has been successful for some children including those whose sexuality was influenced by sexual abuse. Others noted that some people who underwent sexual reorientation therapy felt that they were better off afterwards — even if the therapy was not effective in changing sexual orientation. Some noted that the therapy should not be used on any patient who believes that he or she is simply born with a specific sexual preference.

SCHOOLS MUST REPORT ALL THREATS (H 302) - The House gave initial approval to a proposal that would change a current law that requires principals of all public and private schools to immediately report to the local fire department any incidents involving the setting of unauthorized fires within a school building or on school grounds. The measure would expand the law and require the principals to report all threats including biological hazards, shootings or cyber threats.

Supporters said most schools already report these incidents but there are some that unsuccessfully try to handle these difficult situations themselves.

MAKE THE TAX THE SAME FOR ALL HOTEL RENTALS (S 1567) - The House gave initial approval to legislation that would prohibit online travel companies from calculating state and local hotel taxes based on the wholesale costs the company pays to the hotel for the room rather than on the retail price that the company charges the consumer buyer.

Supporters said this would close a giant loophole that is costing the state lost revenue. They argue that current law allows these online companies to charge less in taxes to their internet customer than the hotel itself is charging the customer.

FREEZE INCOME TAX AT THE CURRENT RATE OF 5.1 PERCENT (H 1616) - The Revenue Committee held a hearing on a measure that would permanently freeze the income tax rate at its current 5.1 percent.

Voters in 2000 approved a gradual reduction of that year's 6.85 percent income tax to 5 percent by January 2003. The Legislature in July 2002 froze the rate at 5.1 percent. At the same time, it devised an automatic trigger that would reduce the income tax by 0.05 percent each year that the state's economic growth is at least 2.5 percent until the tax is reduced to 5 percent. Since that time, the trigger has reduced the tax to its current 5.1 percent.

Supporters said that the next 0.05 percent reduction would save taxpayers an average of only $30 per year. They noted the state, already facing a $400 million-plus budget deficit, cannot afford the projected $84 million in lost revenue which would lead to cuts in important programs.

Opponents said it is long past time for the Legislature to respect and honor voters' opinions from 2000 and allow the income tax to return to 5 percent. They noted that when the income tax was last raised in 1989 it was sold as a "temporary measure" that was supposed to last only 18 months.

PARENTS CAN'T BE FORCED TO TESTIFY AGAINST THEIR CHILDREN (H 3008) - The Judiciary Committee's agenda included a bill that would protect biological parents, adoptive parents, stepparents and legal guardians of a child from being forced to testify against the child. The protection would not apply if the child is being accused of committing a crime against a family member. Current law only protects children from being forced to testify against their parents.

Supporters say it is time to get rid of this double standard and to have an even playing field.

NO SCHOOL ON ELECTION DAY (S 327) - The Elections Laws Committee held a hearing on legislation that would prohibit public schools from scheduling classes on any statewide Election Day. The measure would designate Election Day as a professional development day to train principals, teachers and other professional staff in various skills.

Supporters say many schools serve as polling places on Election Day. They argue that crowds entering the schools on those days reduces safety at the schools and puts children in danger.

MUST SHOW ID TO VOTE (H 372) - The Elections Laws Committee's agenda also included a bill requiring all voters to show identification at their polling places in order to be allowed to vote. Acceptable forms of ID would include any unexpired state or federal government-issued photo ID. This includes a Massachusetts state driver's license or photo identification card and a United States passport. The measure also provides a free or reduced cost photo ID card to indigent voters who cannot afford pay for one.

Supporters say it is illegal that all voters are not required to show identification prior to voting and noted that many other states have laws requiring voters to show ID. They argued that people cannot cash a check, rent a car or even enter some government buildings without showing an ID.

Opponents say the bill would discriminate thousands of voters including people who do not have a current address because they are in a homeless shelter or domestic violence facility. Others said that there have been no widespread reports of voter fraud in Massachusetts.

HOW LONG WAS LAST WEEK'S SESSION? Beacon Hill Roll Call tracks the length of time that the House and Senate were in session each week. Many legislators say that legislative sessions are only one aspect of the Legislature's job and that a lot of important work is done outside of the House and Senate chambers. They note that their jobs also involve committee work, research, constituent work and other matters that are important to their districts. Critics say that the Legislature does not meet regularly or long enough to debate and vote in public view on the thousands of pieces of legislation that have been filed. They note that the infrequency and brief length of sessions are misguided and lead to irresponsible late night sessions and a mad rush to act on dozens of bills in the days immediately preceding the end of an annual session.

During the week of June 5-9, the House met for a total of seven hours and 22 minutes and the Senate met for a total of one hour and 24 minutes.

Railing, guard rail potential changes

After the Monday June 12 meeting on Cunningham Bridge, Selectmen are sending a letter to MassDOT District 5, asking for consideration of two modifications of the plans that would add to the aesthetic elements of the bridge that would meld with the natural beauty of the town.

The board asks that the railing be changed from the proposed Texas Railing-style to the design from Slaw Precast pictured at the Raritan Bridge in New Jersey (see photo) and that the guardrail be changed from steel with beam to a wooden guardrail with steel backing.

The bridge occupies one of the most scenic vistas in Cohasset, the board wrote, and is regularly utilized by residents and visitors for travel and leisure on foot, by bicycle and motor vehicles.

"The bridge represents the first bridge replacement in 55 years, and according to the plans, will last for another 75 years," Selectmen stated. They added getting the replacement project right is critical to Cohasset.

At the June 12 meeting, MassDOT officials did not rule out changes as long as they did not compromise safety or add time and cost to the project.

offenses would mean a $100 fine and suspension of the RTF permit.

Joyce explained that the RTF needs a facelift and noted the town is partnering with the South Shore Recycling Collaborative, a 15-town coalition, to provide more education on recycling. Improved signage is also planned along with stepped up enforcement that including installing cameras that could be used as a backup, if needed, when a worker writes down the plate of a violator.

Selectman Jack Keniley said he had real concerns safety of staff there because not everyone might be pleased with being confronted on their lack of recycling.

Joyce clarified that while enforcement is part of the staff's job, they are instructed not to engage in any conflict. "We will handle enforcement through office mailings, not face to face," Joyce said.

Town Manager Chris Senior noted the disposal is not a "fun thing."

"This is not optional, this is how we pay for solid waste. We need to remind people and start enforcing it seriously," he said.

During the discussion it was pointed out that there are residents who abuse the use of the Pay-per-Throw blue bags that help pay the cost of trucking off the solid waste. Selectman Diane Kennedy said she receives many calls on the issue. She explained, for example, that "...we don't want recycling in the trash and we don't want trash in the recycling."

Claire Galkowski, South Shore Recycling Cooperative

some people dump the contents of their blue bags and take the blue bag home to be used again, defeating the purpose.

Also at the meeting were Claire Galkowski, executive director, and Julie Sullivan, recycling education and compliance officer, of the South Shore Recycling Cooperative who were on hand to support the town's reeducation efforts about recycling. To that end Sullivan, who penned a column this week on page A11, will be a familiar face at the RTF in the days ahead to see what is going on, talk to residents and come up with some strategies to help educate folks about recycling.

Galkowski explained that everything from railing design to whether climate change had been figured into the project.

One audience member questioned the need to replace the bridge while another asked why the existing bridge built in 1962 was not made to last.

Concerns on whether the new bridge can withstand the extreme storms and the forces of climate change including rising sea levels were also expressed.

Colton had his work cut out for him to keep the focus of the meeting on construction that included schedule, detours, haul routes, noise and dust control and more, as advertised.

"With due respect to those concerned," Colton told the gathering. "We could be here all night to discuss climate change, global warming, rising sea levels. But the fact of the matter is the bridge is designed to withstand any of those incidents that might occur over the next 75 years — this meeting is about construction of the bridge, not design."

Fire Chief Robert Silvia pointed out that the existing bridge has decreased weight limits due to its deteriorating condition. He noted that the ladder truck weighs 75,000 pounds or 35 tons and can still travel over the bridge but cannot stop there.

"I can drive over the bridge but if I park there, I would exceed the weight limits," he said.

Officials said at the meeting that there would be no weight limits on the new bridge.

forum with a question-and-answer session on the Cunningham Bridge replacement project this week is not their typical course of action.

"This project has been a very engaging one with the community," Rich Colon, MassDOT director of community relations, told a crowd of about 50 on Monday for a construction meeting on the bridge at Willcutt Commons, complete with PowerPoint presentation.

"This is not typical of what we normally do post notice to proceed," he explained, adding they have been listening and open to community concerns. "Usually that's it and we move forward and start the project."

Cunningham Bridge is owned by the Town of Cohasset. MassDOT funded the design costs and MassDOT and federal funds will be paying for the construction of the bridge. The price for the contract is $6,247,362.50 (approximately 80 percent federally funded and 20 percent state funded). MIG Corporation is the contractor for the project.

What MassDOT got during Monday's forum was more feedback on everything from railing design to whether climate change had been figured into the project.

One audience member questioned the need to replace the bridge while another asked why the existing bridge built in 1962 was not made to last.

Skippers battle to final out of Sectional Semifinals

By William Wassersug
wwassersug@wickedlocal.com

The Cohasset High School sports scene is a venue loaded with success in just about every way possible, and truth is, teams in just about any sport may have a down season here and there, but in the long run, they always come back. The baseball team, which not too long ago won a back-to-back state championships, missed the tournament last year, but made up for it in a big way, fighting into the Div. 4 South Sectional semifinals this season, where they lost a hard fought 4-1 battle to No. 6 seeded Upper Cape Tech (17-7) in a game that the Skippers were in right to the final out.

The Skippers, the No. 14 seed, ended their season with a 13-10 record

Laxwomen headed to State Final for first time

It's been a year of firsts for the Cohasset High girls lacrosse team. The Skippers defeated Norwell for the first time in program history earlier this season and Cohasset won the South Shore League title for the first time. On Saturday June 10, the Skippers added another first - the program's first Division 2 South Sectional - title with a 16-4 win over Norwell. They followed that win with an impressive 11-4 victory over Newburyport Wednesday June 14 to send the Skippers to Saturday's State Championship game at Boston University. Sisters Jane and Elle Hansen led the way, combining for 9 goals

Excellent season ended in Sectional Final

By Mark Ducharme

The Cohasset boys lacrosse team was close to making its way to where they wanted to make it to. The Skippers were hoping to make their way to the state final game and for good reason.

They were a deep talented team that had good success against some of the top teams in Eastern Mass. The run ended when the Skippers ran into a hot Hanover team.

The Indians defeated the Skippers in the last game of the regular season, 7-5 and in the Div 3 South Championship game, 11-9. The Hanover tournament game was a tough one, we wanted to make it to the last game of the season," Cohasset coach James Beaudoin said. "The Hanover goalie (Michael Nassif) had a lot of key saves and their faceoff man had a big day. That is not a good combination to have go against you."

The season was an outstanding one for Cohasset. They won the South Shore League for the fifth straight year.

Beaudoin said.

The Skippers had to fix up their defense and they had a young team that had five seniors on the team.

Thomas Durkin, Jimmy Farren, Will Lucier, Vincenzo Kultrides and Charlie Swartwood were the five seniors on the team this year.

"We will miss the five seniors, they are great kids" Beaudoin said. "Thomas (Durkin) and Jimmy (Farren) our two captains were the last two players that played on our state championship team."

The Skippers had 12 juniors, three sophomores and five freshmen in the team, so the future is bright. The key will be the off season according to the coach.

"The kids have to work at improving their game over the summer," Beaudoin said. "We have a lot of juniors and a lot of them have two and three years of experience. We have a lot of players at all of the positions. We have better training in the youth program."

The returnees included All-Americans Will Thomas and Kyle McFetridge.

"The big thing for the underclassmen is that they learned to be unselfish."

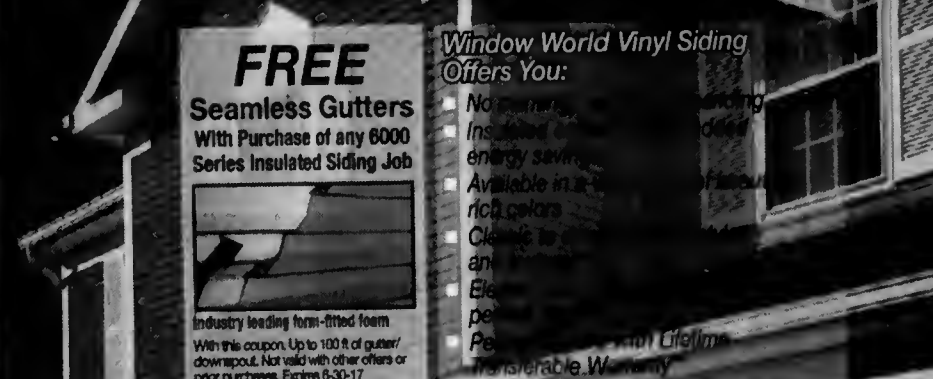

"We learned about the culture of being unselfish this year," Beaudoin said. "We have six or seven players that were with 15 goals of each other."

"Our defense worked together. Everyone played for the greater good of the team."

and 3 assists in the win.

Jane notched 5 goals and an assist, while Elle added 4 goals and 2 assists.

Julia Placek and Marina Longo each scored solo goals. Jane Cavanaro 6 saves Jane and Elle Hansen led the way in the Norwell win, combining for 11 goals.

"It was finally knowing what to expect," said Cohasset coach Kully Reardon. "We knew one of them would get faceguarded. We knew Grace (Connerty) would guard Elle. Mentally when you know a team so well, you know what they're going to do to try to defend you, they were just so mentally ready that honestly it wasn't a surprise to see this from them."

The Cohasset (No. 1 seed, 18-2) win ends a string of Norwell sectional titles. "In our attacking end we just didn't possess the ball long enough to get any rhythm going," said Norwell coach Kara Connerty. "It wasn't our best game. We were hoping to really come out and play our best when it counts in the South Sectional Finals. Having said that, I'm very proud of my team. It's very difficult to win as many south sectional finals as we did back-to-back."

The day started out nicely for the Clippers (No. 3 seed, 15-6). Annie Hilsinger scored off a free position to give Norwell a 1-0 lead within the first two minutes of the game. Cohasset answered with seven consecutive goals and kept the Clippers off the board for over 21 minutes.

Jane (six goals) and Elle Hansen (five) combined to score Cohasset's first five tallies.

"Obviously they're all-american plays, (they're) very versatile and I think we weren't able to crash enough on them," said Kara Connerty.

The Skippers led 8-2 at half.

Norwell answered first in the second half when Murphy McDonough scored 15 seconds into the half. Cohasset put the game away by scoring the next eight goals. "I always expect a comeback from them because they're so tough and they're so well coached," said Reardon. "(Kara Connerty) mentally can prepare them like no other."

"Mentally (we) were there. They were so focused and they've been waiting for this for so long that I think they were just chomping at the bit to get out here and play today."

Julia Placek scored two goals for Cohasset while Lauren Farren, Molly Greer and Marina Longo had solo tallies. Grace Connerty and Maddie McDonough scored once for Norwell.

including the tournament.

"Absolutely," Larsen said of if he was pleased with the way the season went. "Like I told our seniors, the best gift they could give us was a deep playoff run. We didn't expect to go this far, but we are thrilled that we go here."

"The Skippers came into the season with a few questions, but had a plan that worked well."

"It's amazing," Larsen said of the team's growth through the season. "We knew from the beginning that offensively we were going to have some growing pains, but we knew we were going to have great pitching, which we did all year, and if we played some defense behind them we'd be able to scrape out a few games."

"In the Upper Cape game, the difference in the game turned on a couple of plays unique to the turf field at Plymouth North."

"Unfortunately the turf changes up your game a little," Larsen said about a couple of key Upper Cape hits into the outfield that travelled faster off the hops and ground that Skipper outfielders couldn't get to. "A couple of balls found the gap, and once they hit the turf they take off on you."

Cohasset never gave up, bringing the tying run to the plate in the seventh inning, including a straight hustle base hit from Liam O'Connell that kept things going.

"I can't describe how proud of them I am on an everyday basis," Larsen said. "To fight to the last out of the game is recorded, that's what we do."

Larsen said he has special feelings for his seniors, Xander Schubert, Liam O'Connell, Michael Cohen and Chris Kierce.

"The senior class is only my second, but they're going to leave a lasting impression on me for sure," Larsen said. "Their leadership on and off the field, they're in a league of their own."

A number of players stepped up to make big contributions in the tournament.

"Michael Cohen really stepped his game up on the mound for us in the tournament," Larsen said. "He was on the mound for the win against Blue Hills and he was on the mound for six innings today. He and Xander Schubert combined for the year went 11-3 between the two of them. When your record is 13-10, that pops your eyes out a little."

"Next year the story is offense," Larsen said looking forward. "We're returning our No. 3 and 4 starter in Joe Protulis and George Grech. If we can find another pitcher or two we should be right back here."

In the tournament's first two games, Cohasset beat No. 3 Blue Hills (15-4) 5-3, and followed with a 2-0 win over No. 11 Sturgis East (11-7). Schubert tossed the shutout in the Sturgis East victory and Cohen went the distance against Blue Hills.

Skipper Nine finish fantastic season

Friday June 9, the strong playoff run of the 2017 Cohasset baseball team ended at the hands of Upper Cape, as the Skippers fell 4-1 to the senior dominated Rams.

Still, the young Skippers made a strong playoff push, and the future looks bright.

Freshman Ian Appleby and sophomores Mike Milanowski, Nick Simon, Aaron Froio, George Grech, Mark Mahoney, Turner Martell, Clifford Ward and Bradley Albanese all were key contributors to this year's squad, and will form the core of the team next year with senior-to-be leaders Harry Timothy and Joe Protulis.

Schubert co-captained the Skippers football team, and was selected a South Shore League All Star in that sport as well.

On the diamond, these three have been core members of a group that were District Semi-Finalists as Little Leaguers, key leaders of Cohasset's first Junior League District Championship team, and varsity starters since sophomore year.

Their collective contributions to Cohasset have been great, and all will be missed next year.

Nationally ranked as a race car driver, Christopher Kierce had a strong season at the plate and in the field for the Skippers and was a key contributor.

Cohasset's three senior tri-captains closed out terrific athletic careers for the Skippers, as Michael Cohen, Liam O'Connell and Xander Schubert were all chosen as South Shore League All Stars on the diamond.

Each was a multi-sport captain and multi-sport star for Cohasset this year. Cohen also co-captained the hockey team and was a South Shore League All Star and Player of the Year.

O'Connell also co-captained the state finalist soccer team and captained the Skippers basketball team, was a South Shore League All Star selection in both of those sports as well, and an EMAS All Star in soccer.

GRADUATION

Derby Day!

Derby Academy Head of School Joseph J. Perry, Jr., left, and Associate Head of School/Head of Upper and Middle Schools John Houghton, right, with graduating Grade 8 students Samuel Hess, Michaela Pace, Lindsay Behenna, and Reid Hosp, all from Cohasset, during Derby Academy's 226th Derby Day Lecture and Graduation Exercises on Thursday, June 8.

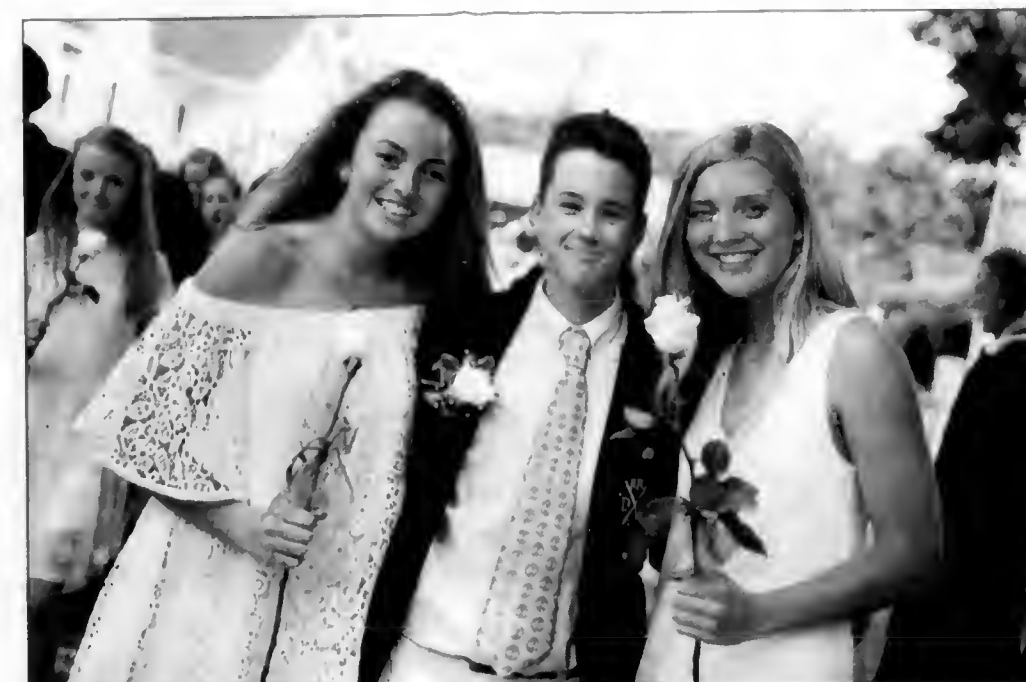

Derby Academy celebrated its 226th Derby Day Lecture and Graduation Exercises on Thursday, June 8, 2017. The morning's event began with an all-school choral concert, featuring the musical talent of Derby students and faculty, followed by a special tribute to the beloved Kindergarten faculty member Ellie Devine, who is retiring this spring after 34 remarkable years at Derby.

Derby Academy Board of Trustees President elect Paul Scanlon then took the podium to thank outgoing Board president Maureen Pace for her service. "There is no doubt in my mind that this School, this organization, is stronger for everything you've done. Thank you," Mrs. Pace shared the same optimistic outlook as she thanked Mr. Scanlon and her fellow Board members. "I truly believe that the School is in the strongest place it's ever been from a leadership perspective," she said. "The Board, the administrative team here, is the best that I have seen in my tenure, truly, and I've been here for a long time. I look forward to watching all of the continued successes that I know are ahead of us. Again, thank you all for trusting in me, and for the privilege of leading the Board."

Following the choral concert, students, faculty, Trustees and proud parents accompanied the Class of 2017 procession along Fearing Road to New North Church in Hingham, a longstanding Derby Academy tradition. Leading the way were parade marshals Cleo Belber of Scituate and Elina Mraz of Duxbury, the two academically top-ranked eighth graders. Head of School Joe Perry offered opening remarks, congratulating students, and asking that they hold onto the relationships they've forged while at Derby. "You all have a unique bond with each other that will not be repeated again in your lifetime," said Mr. Perry. "Many of you have been together for 10 years, interacting on a daily basis, getting to know each other deeply, and seeing each other grow and develop — more intimately than most siblings experience. As others of you entered Derby, you quickly became part of your class's family. "Regardless of where you are going next year, keep your Derby friends close. Foster these relationships and they will flourish and continue to feed your soul throughout your life. Do not make this Derby Day an ending, but rather a new beginning that you all share together. Stay connected; share your new schools' experiences with each other and support each other through new challenges. I am so proud of all of you. Keep observing your surroundings, and keep making a difference."

Book Awards were presented by Associate Head of School and Head of Middle and Upper Schools John Houghton. These books are given to students who have achieved a grade of A- or better in every major subject for the year. Derby Academy's two highest awards, the Madam Sarah Derby Pin and the Academy Pin, are presented to a girl and boy from the eighth grade who most nearly embody the values of the Derby community through demonstrated effort, interest and positive contributions in academics, arts, athletics and extracurricular activities. Through an endowment established in 2009 by John Harper '48, this pin is given in memory of his father, Wallace Harper. This year, Sarah Naanaa of Milton received the Madam Sarah Derby Pin and Max White of Duxbury received the Academy Pin.

From left, Derby Academy Grade 8 students Michaela Pace, of Cohasset, with Henry Keohan and Eden Donnellan, both of Hingham, march in Derby's procession down Fearing Road toward New North Church in Hingham, as part in Derby Academy's 226th Derby Day Lecture and Graduation Exercises on Thursday, June 8.

English Department Co-Chair and Upper School faculty member Rich Andriole was awarded the Thomas J. Waters Prize for excellence in teaching. Derby Academy presented diplomas to the following 37 graduates: Samuel Barrett, Ethan Bartlett, Lindsay Behenna, Cleo Belber, Graham Butterfield, Kaeden Chandler, Ava Clancy, William Dolan III, Eden Donnellan, Joshua Exantus, Peter Farley, Isabella Graizzaro, Sophia Graizzaro, Kendall Hayes, Samuel Hess, Reid Hosp, Andrew Jones, Henry Keohan, Arend Kraan, Angeli LoNigro, Grace Maxwell, Maya Metri, Luke Milano, Elina Mraz, Ryan Mullen, Eleanor Murphy, Sarah Naanaa, Michaela Pace, Benton Perry, Peter Ragone, Natalie Sharpe, Colby Sheehan, Nicholas Skillman, Katharine Strong, Reddie Warwick, Max White, Emily Wolford. Reverend Dr. Peter Allen, senior pastor of the Hingham Congregational Church, delivered the Derby Lecture, offering advice for the pressures of high school, and reminding graduates that learning is about more than good grades and high test scores. "Tests do have their place," said Dr. Allen. "They're important, but [they aren't] the only measures of a good student. So this morning, I want to encourage you to do more than achieve and succeed. I invite you and challenge you to learn how to think well over the next several years... So how do we learn to think well? Engage with all sorts of people, ask questions, listen, find time to be alone and quiet, find a community, and think with your heart, as well as your mind."

Derby Academy Grade 8 student Lindsay Behenna, of Cohasset, receives her diploma from Derby Academy Board of Trustees President Maureen D. Pace as Derby celebrates its 226th Derby Day Lecture and Graduation Exercises on Thursday, June 8.

COHASSET GARDEN CLUB

Second graders learn about pollination

On June 6th and 7th the Osgood School second grade classes participated in the "Bee A Pollinator Pal" program sponsored by the Cohasset Garden Club. The program, which is its fifth year now, kicked off with a full grade assembly on Tuesday, June 6th to hear naturalist Chris Jacobs from the South Shore Natural Science Center speak on the importance of pollinators for our plants, crops and food supply.

The second graders also watched a wonderful video about pollinators and pollinator called "The Beauty of Pollination" which can be found on youtube.com. On Wednesday, June 7th, the weather cleared just in time for each class to have an outdoor lesson on pollinators at the Pollinator Garden at the back of the school. The Pollinator Garden was designed by Cohasset Garden Club members and planted with pollinator-friendly plants with help from second grade students during the first year of the program in 2013.

Cohasset Garden Club members talked about how the plants for the garden were chosen and how the various plant colors would attract different pollinators, including butterflies, bees, hummingbirds and bats. The students played a game to "Match the Pollinator to the Plant". The students then learned about how plants grow, the importance of healthy soil and root systems and what they can do to help keep the garden healthy, including adding compost and earthworms. Finally, each student had the chance to "plant" an earthworm in the garden. At the end of the week, each student took home a package of marigold seeds and instructions for planting them at home to attract pollinators to their own yards. Even though they will be moving up to the Deer Hill School next year, the students were encouraged to visit the Pollinator Garden over the summer and next fall to see what will be in bloom later in the season.

Cohasset Beach Yoga is back!

Sand, Sea, Sky, and Yoga are a beautiful combination! Cohasset Beach Yoga returns this season with a summer schedule taught by two veteran yoga instructors. Four years ago, Trish Hart, RYT 500, founded Cohasset Beach Yoga; a multi-level yoga program that allows students of all abilities to enjoy a deep connection with nature in their practice.

Cohasset Beach Yoga begins the season with an Opening Celebration on Father's Day, Sunday, June 18, at 8 a.m. on Sandy Beach. This 75-minute yoga practice will be co-taught by Trish Hart and Beverly Bielewicz featuring live music with musicians Matt Henderson on guitar and Mike Nakashima on percussion.

Complimentary fruit and mint infused water provided during the opening class. The rain date for the Beach Yoga kick-off will be Sunday, July 2nd. The regular schedule commences on Monday, June 19th.

The schedule for Cohasset Beach Yoga 2017 is: ■ Sunday morning 8 to 9:15 a.m.: Sunrise Acoustic Flow with Trish Hart, yoga instructor and Matt Henderson, musician. ■ Monday evening 7

All classes will be held at the far end of Sandy Beach, 345 Atlantic Ave., and are one-hour duration, except the Sunday morning acoustic flow which is an hour and 15 minutes long. The cost is $15 per class. An information sign will be on the beach and non-Cohasset residents should see the instructor for a temporary parking pass.

to 8 p.m.: Restorative Sunset Flow with Beverly Bielewicz. Relaxing beach time and beverages post class optional.

■ Wednesday morning 7:30 to 8:30 a.m.: Sunrise Flow with Beverly Bielewicz. All classes will be held at the far end of Sandy Beach, 345 Atlantic Ave., and are one-hour duration, except the Sunday morning acoustic flow which is an hour and 15 minutes long. The cost is $15 per class. An information sign will be on the beach and non-Cohasset residents should see the instructor for a temporary parking pass.

A donation to the Sandy Beach Association is given from Cohasset Beach Yoga toward the care and upkeep of the beautiful beach and bath house. Please note, Sandy Beach is a private beach for Cohasset residents and it is important to display the temporary parking pass to avoid a citation. The pass must be returned at the conclusion of the class. Students should bring a yoga mat, towel, and water, sun screen and bug repellent are recommended.

All information about Cohasset Beach Yoga can be found on its Facebook page. "Like" Cohasset Beach Yoga so you will receive our notifications. Any class changes or cancellations will be posted within two hours of class start time; they will announce any alterations to the schedule as early as possible. Pop up "teen" and special event classes may be added to the summer schedule.

The instructors are available for private or group yoga instruction, as well.

COHASSET POLICE/FIRE LOG

The following are excerpts from the Cohasset Police/Fire Log which is public record and available for review.

Monday, June 5

7:41 a.m.: A walk-in reported someone cutting the grass and leaving debris on Ripley Road, making it hazardous for people in the area. An officer reported nothing in the area.
8:21 a.m.: A minor motor vehicle crash was reported at Old Colony Square at Cohasset on Chief Justice Cushing Highway. No injuries were reported, and one vehicle was towed.
10:29 a.m.: A walk-in alarm was reported at a residence on South Main Street. The alarm was set off by workers on scene.
11:42 a.m.: A fire alarm was reported at Cohasset Senior/Junior High School on Pond Street. Fire personnel reported a slight water leak in the basement, which maintenance on scene would handle. The alarm was silenced.
2:32 p.m.: A caller reported that a female party drove through the school bus red lights at Deer Hill School on Sohler Street and they would like the party spoken to. The party had been in a grey Ford Explorer in the parent pickup line, but the bus driver did not get the license plate.
5:28 p.m.: A motor vehicle crash was reported on Beechwood Street at Chief Justice Cushing Highway. A tow was requested for two vehicles. No injuries were reported.
7:17 p.m.: Multiple fire alarms were reported at a residence on Surry Drive. The home phone was busy but personnel determined it was accidental from cooking.

3:55 p.m.: A caller reported a dead seal on the north end of Sandy Beach on Atlantic Avenue. A message was left with the New England Aquarium.
5:08 p.m.: A caller reported she just arrived home on King Street and her son had informed her two hours ago that a male and female party had walked into the back door. Her son is autistic and didn't know how to report but took pictures. An officer reported that the son saw a car pull up behind the house but no one entered the house. The homeowner stated it was an insurance agent attempting to drop off paperwork.
5:32 p.m.: A caller reported they heard a boom at 1:30 p.m. on Ash Street and hasn't had power since. Police reported a blown breaker on a pole on Short Street. National Grid responded, and the power came back on.
6:37 p.m.: A missing yellow Lab was reported on Pleasant Street. The dog returned home.

Wednesday, June 7

6:26 a.m.: An erratic operator was reported on Chief Justice Cushing Highway in a red Toyota SUV traveling from Scituate toward Hingham. Police checked the length of Chief Justice Cushing Highway and didn't locate the vehicle.
8:42 a.m.: A caller from Hingham Lumber Co. on Chief Justice Cushing Highway reported they had someone pass bad checks to them.
10:03 a.m.: A caller reported that a rooster showed up on their back deck on Whitney Woods Lane four days ago. The rooster was removed.
11:20 a.m.: A caller reported that a man walked into Starbucks Coffee Company on Chief Justice Cushing Highway and yelled "You are all going to be dead." The male party was sitting on the patio by himself with a white shopping bag and a Starbucks cup. An officer reported the party was sent on his way. The comment had been made to a customer that left prior to police arrival; it had made the customer uncomfortable but was not a specific threat.
3:34 p.m.: A caller reported a male party sitting on the edge of Brewster Road with a shopping cart partially in the roadway. Police were unable to locate the party but found the shopping cart at the end of the road.

7:01 p.m.: A caller reported a snapping turtle in the middle of the road on King Street at Pond Street. A passing motorist moved it off to the side.
7:21 p.m.: A caller reported that her dog was attacked by a neighbor's dog on Oak Street. She asked to speak with an officer before taking the dog to the vet. An officer spoke with both parties and filed a report for the animal control officer to follow up on.
8:19 p.m.: A caller requested a well being check on his neighbor on Border Street. He saw her 45 minutes ago, and she seemed disoriented and was unable to get out of the vehicle and to her house without assistance. The party checked out; she was just having a difficult time getting to the door.

8:32 p.m.: A caller reported kids on the Border Street Bridge on Border Street and requested an officer have them move along. An officer reported six youths sitting and talking and no issues. The youths left the area.
8:56 a.m.: A 10-day quarantine was issued for a black Lab mix on Hill Street.
2:24 p.m.: A caller reported for stolen property.
3:40 p.m.: A caller reported a 3-year-old locked in a running vehicle on Avalon Drive. Fire personnel reported the child was in a car seat and not in any distress. Express Towing responded and gained access.
4:11 p.m.: A caller reported an unsafe job site on Beechwood Street. The caller was afraid after dark someone would drive into the work site near the bridge, where nothing was covering or blocking the hole in the ground. An officer reported no workers on location. A cone had fallen over and was put back in place.
5:45 p.m.: An erratic operator was reported heading south on Route 3A. The driver was reportedly texting

Friday, June 9

7 a.m.: A caller reported he hit a deer near Frank Williams Landscaping on Chief Justice Cushing Highway. He pulled into the MBTA lot and believed the deer may be on the side of the road. The vehicle was driveable, so the operator was sent on his way. An officer believed the deer ran into the woods.
8:56 a.m.: A 10-day quarantine was issued for a black Lab mix on Hill Street.
2:24 p.m.: A caller reported for stolen property.
3:40 p.m.: A caller reported a 3-year-old locked in a running vehicle on Avalon Drive. Fire personnel reported the child was in a car seat and not in any distress. Express Towing responded and gained access.
4:11 p.m.: A caller reported an unsafe job site on Beechwood Street. The caller was afraid after dark someone would drive into the work site near the bridge, where nothing was covering or blocking the hole in the ground. An officer reported no workers on location. A cone had fallen over and was put back in place.
5:45 p.m.: An erratic operator was reported heading south on Route 3A. The driver was reportedly texting and distracted by a child in the back. An officer reported the party checked out.

6:23 p.m.: A missing resident was reported at Sunrise Assisted Living of Cohasset on King Street. The resident has dementia and had been missing for an hour. Officers responded and reported the party may be with his daughter. The party was located with a family member.

OBITUARIES

Obituaries appearing in this section are paid for and written by families, often through the services of a funeral director.

Carol A. Froio

HULL — Carol Ann (Lind) Froio, age 81, of Hull, passed away on June 5, 2017.

Born May 9, 1936, in Somerville, Carol was the only child of Cyril and Mary (Mackenzie) Lind.

Along with her aunt, Josie Mackenzie, she moved from her birthplace with her family to Lexington and lived there for twenty years. She finally fulfilled her dream and moved to Cohasset to be near the ocean. As a child, she spent her summers there with her aunt Molly and uncle Freddy and fell in love with the town.

Carol's education included Matignon High School, Vesper George School of Art and Cardinal Cushing College in Brookline.

She was the loving mother to her three children, Sal, Debbie, and Carolyn. Carol was a homemaker and a devoted wife. Carol loved life and brought smiles and laughter to everyone she knew. She adored everything about the ocean and wanted to share it with others, especially her husband Ralph.

Carol also loved animals, antiques, and she was especially interested in interior design.

Walking, swimming, tennis and golf were among her interests as well, but family was her number one priority. She was a member of Cohasset Golf Club since 1976 and also a member at Riddles Bay Golf Club in Bermuda.

She worked at South Shore Surgical Associates in Scituate as a medical secretary until she retired.

She is survived by her loving husband Dr. Ralph Froio, son, Sal Cesario of Hull, and daughters, Debbie Tagliente and Carolyn Farrell of Hanson, their husbands, Peter Tagliente and Timothy Farrell, and a daughter-in-law Elena Cesario. She was the grandmother of five grandchildren, Nicholas, Olivia, Timothy, Lucy, and Evanna. She was the widow of the late Salvatore Cesario of Boston.

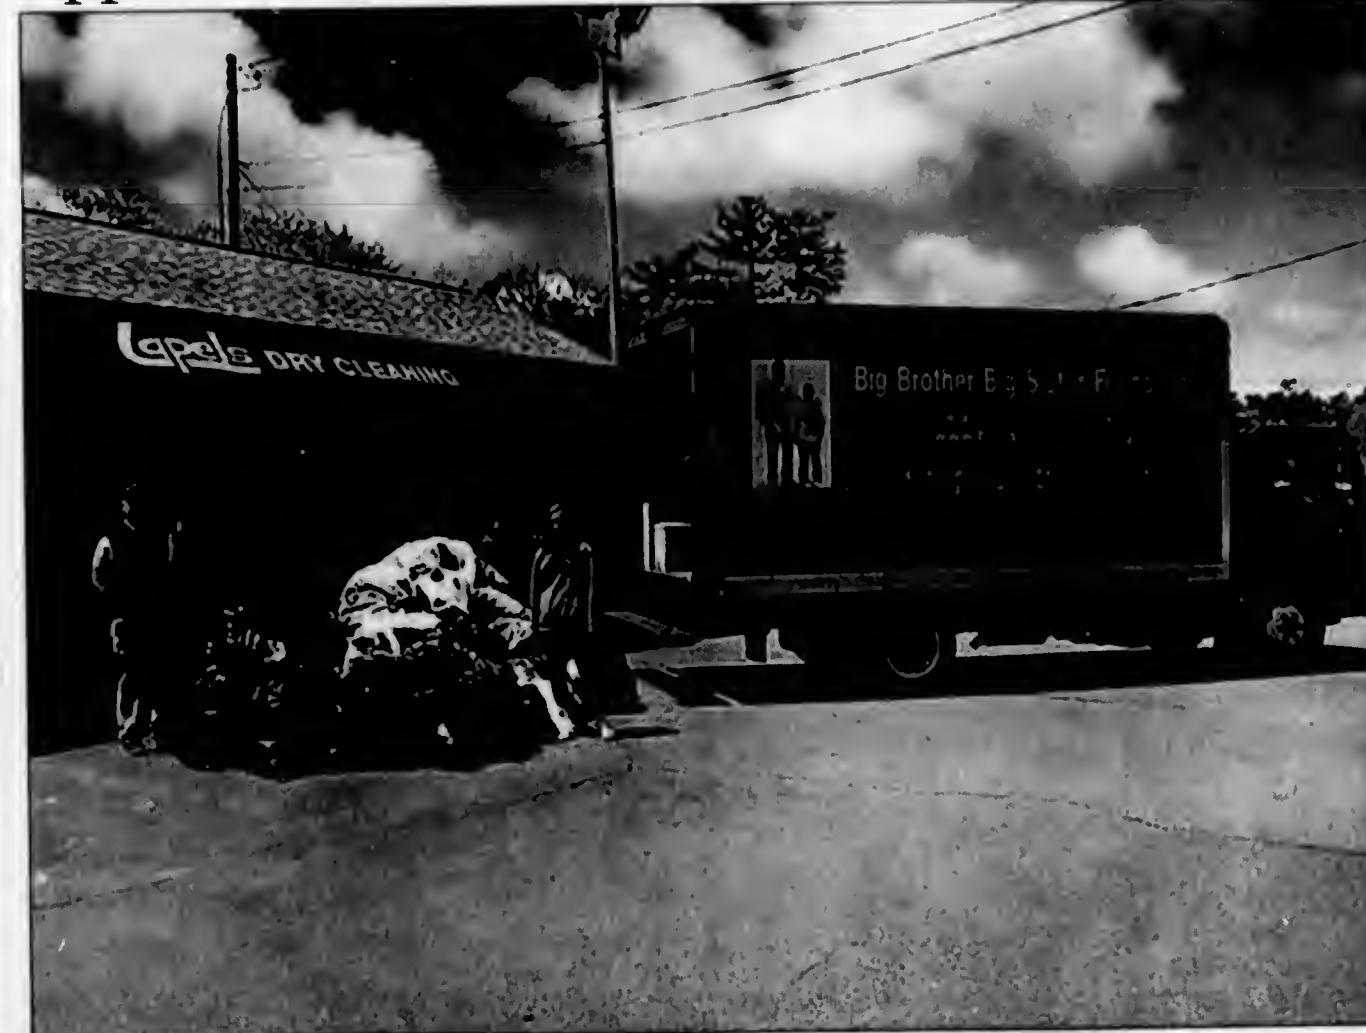

A memorial service will be held on Friday, June 30, 2017 at the Cohasset Golf Club at 11 a.m., 175 Lamberts Lane, Cohasset, with a reception to follow.

In lieu of flowers, donations to honor Carol may be made to the Pat Roche Hospice Home, c/o Norwell VNA & Hospice, 120 Longwater Drive, Norwell, MA 02061.
